

Oojah Travel Protection Privacy Policy

We at Oojah Travel Protection value the importance of protecting your personal information and we subscribe to the principles as outlined in Section 51 of the Electronic Communications and Transactions Act 2002.

Personal information for the purpose of this document means all information specific to you, which are provided to us via the internet. In other words information that identifies you. This includes for example the following personal information that you may provide to us to obtain inter alia an online quotation:

- Your name and surname
- Age
- Identity number
- Date of birth
- E- mail address
- Contact number(s)
- Password & Username.

We value the information you choose to provide and which we collect from you, and will take reasonable steps to protect your personal information from loss, misuse or unauthorized alteration. We consider the protection of all personal information we receive from our Website visitors and subscribers as critical to our corporate mission. Please be assured that we have security measures in place to protect against the loss, misuse, and alteration of any personal information we receive from you. As with any transmission over the Internet, however, there is always some element of risk involved in sending personal information. In order to try to minimize this risk, we encrypt all information that you submit in purchasing a policy using the Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol. If we have issued you with a username and password, you must always keep this information secret and ensure that it is not disclosed to anyone.

Whenever you use this website, complete a quotation or application form or contact us electronically, we will process and collect your personal information.

We will use your personal information only as appropriate in the normal course of business. The following are reasons why we would collect your personal information:

- To identify you
- For us to process your instructions to us
- To manage your policy/ies
- Compliance with the laws of the Republic of South Africa
- Detecting fraud,
- Direct marketing to you via e-mail or telephone

We don't permit the selling or providing of personal information to third parties for independent use. We may however share your personal information with our partners if that information is required to provide you with the product or services requested by you. Our business partners will adhere to using your personal information as directed by us.

We will disclose your personal information when required to do so

- by any regulatory authority (like the Financial Services Board) for the various financial sectors
- to comply with any regulation passed under relevant legislation, or any legal process
- to protect and defend our/Hollard' s rights and property (including our intellectual property), or
- when you have expressly authorized us to do so.

We may also contact you about our products which we believe may be of interest to you. If at any stage after you have given us your consent, change your mind and no longer wish us to contact you about our products, we will respect your decision. You will always be given the opportunity to instruct us to remove your contact details from our mailing list.

You have the right to access your own personal information that we keep about you by following the procedures available under the our Promotion to Access to Information Act Manual available from the website.

We reserve the right in our sole discretion to amend this Privacy Policy from time to time and you agree that you will review the terms of this Privacy Policy whenever you visit our website for any such amendments.

This Privacy Policy will be governed by and construed and interpreted in accordance with the laws of the Republic of South Africa.

When you do visit our website and in the process provide us with your personal information you will be agreeing to the provisions set out above.

You also authorize us to act on the information that you send electronically. Ensure that you have read and understood the terms and conditions of this Privacy Policy before you provide us with your personal information.